

Paige Williams joined TCTA in October 2008 and serves as the Director of Legislation and a staff attorney for TCTA. She earned her Bachelor of Science from Texas A&M University before going to work at the state capitol for Rep. Rob Eissler in 2003. It was during this stint at the capitol that Paige realized that she was interested in public education policy and she returned to school. She earned her Doctor of Jurisprudence from the University of Texas-Austin in 2007. Before joining TCTA, Paige clerked for Judge Lawrence Meyers at the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, the highest state criminal appellate court. Paige is also a member of the Travis County Women Lawyers' Association, having previously served on the board.
